

Val Di Pan is the Consortium of Marble Workers from Valpantena.

We are located in the Verona Stone District, the beating heart giving new momentum to the architecture and design industries on a global scale.

We are a business network operating in the stone industry. Each company of our group has its own identity, specialization and customized range of products. By pulling together, we have been putting our professionalism at the service of architects, designers and other marble workers, providing them with our deep knowledge and competences.

We build bonds and synergies to disseminate artisans' intelligence, creativity and manual skills in transforming natural stone into unique products.

We offer customized solutions according to the material, processing technique and intended use thanks to our consolidated experience, combined with continuous research.

We process at least 1,200 different types of material, which we export to the major markets: United States, South America, Great Britain, Northern and Central Europe, Africa, United Arab Emirates, Russia, Indonesia and Australia.

Green philosophy of the Consortium of Marble Workers from Valpantena

We promote natural stone in all its forms by processing it with low energy consumption and the utmost respect for our environment. Natural stone can be recycled eternally and used in other sectors, as well as restored easily for external use.

We recognize the immense value of our territory. We take care of our landscape and natural water resources when processing stone. We all share values of environmental sustainability, aiming to evolve together and respect our planet.

We give new life to excavated areas through quarry restoration, an accurate land restoration and subsequent reforestation. We were the first Consortium in Italy to take action to manage residues derived from the processing of marble, granite and alike.
