

ABOUT US

The experience and love in what we do makes Semarble not just a stone supplier, but also a reference point for your project.

Semarble is an enthusiastic and flexible stone company that is able to combine italian artisan skills with the most refined demands of the global market. We are based in Verona, in the North East of Italy. Moreover we work alongside our partners in a meaningful dialogue to obtain something that is genuinely unique, respecting both budget and functional aspects.

Our level of involvement can range from providing materials to managing the full stone package, from small domestic commissions through to large commercial projects.
