

Girlanda Fratelli is a family business composed of two brothers, Silvano and Simone. We learned the trade thanks to our father Angelo, the first manufacturer in Italy of supplies for stonemasons and whose activity began back in 1962.

The manual experience with the material and the direct contact with customers, allowed us to found our company in 2010.

We have chosen to be producers of articles and equipment for stonemasons.

We have chosen to distinguish ourselves by taking care, in a personalized way, of every detail of our articles for the stone industry.

We have chosen to focus on quality at every stage of production: from product prototyping to delivery.

We are specialized in the production of supplies for marble workers and companies in the stone industry, as we are located in the heart of the second marble district of Verona. The contact with these realities is constant and allows us to know in real time the needs of the sector.
